Dear Productivity Commissioner,

We need to keep a strongly independent body to assess major projects in NSW. the IPC may not be perfect but it is important and its role should be strengthened, not weakened as sought by the mining industry and developers.

The acceptability of projects to the community would not be helped by having the power of approval revert to the Minister and Department of Planning, where too much influence by well-funded bodies can be wielded.

So, keep the IPC until something better can be devised.

Yours sincerely,
