The IPC should be left as a separate entity. Open slather mining is ruining our air, water, soil and our health.

The Minerals Council are not to be trusted, their CEO is a bright man with little or no exposure to what mining is doing other than the big fat pay packet he gets Think environment all that money will be no good to anyone when all our economies fail due to what some say is not happening and that is climate change. Listen to all the rural fire chiefs etc they know scientists know.

But one they don't need is votes, money from slush funds, bottles of 3k wine.

Leave it alone the IPC has been fair in all its doings. I am sick of being sick living in a once clean town.
